Forest Seedling Availability from In-State and Regional Nurseries, 2009-2010

Many forestry companies and agencies in Mississippi and throughout the southern region are offering a variety of tree species during the 2009-2010 planting season. Planting of bareroot tree seedlings continues through mid-March of 2010, whereas planting of containerized seedlings may be extended several more weeks. Here is a list of species for several nurseries, which sell seedlings to private landowners.

When placing an order, be sure that the seedlings are from a seed source that will grow in the area you intend to plant them. Trees vary in many characteristics depending on the climate and conditions under which they have evolved. This is why the geographic origin of seed is important. Take advantage of what we know about geographic variation in trees and plant seedlings adapted to your area. If you have questions, contact your County Extension Director, Area Extension Forestry Specialist, or Mississippi Forestry Commission (MFC) Service Forester.

As a special note, the MFC will not approve seedling purchases for state cost-share programs unless they are from acceptable seed sources (as determined by the MFC). Please check with your MFC Service Forester if you plan to use state cost-share money when regenerating your forest land.

Before placing any orders, you should first write or call for an application, seedling order form, and other information on availability and methods of payment and shipment. When ordering, make sure you know how many seedlings you need and how they will be shipped. Ask the nursery to notify you just prior to the shipment date, so you can pick them up immediately. This is very important for seedling survival.

If you are interested in ordering seedlings for the 2009-2010 planting season, you can contact the nurseries listed here for current prices and availability. The following information is intended as a guide only. Reference to nurseries is made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended against other nurseries or any endorsement is being provided for those listed, by the Department of Forestry, College of Forest Resources, and the Extension Service at Mississippi State University.

OTHER STATE NURSERIES

There are other nurseries in the region which produce and sell seedlings. These sources are not necessarily adapted for growth in Mississippi. If you order from these nurseries, ask them if the seedlings will grow where you will be planting. In addition, other state nurseries often will not sell seedlings out-of-state, unless they have extra. As always, be sure to ask about shipping methods, times, and charges.
