

Now, more than ever, the field of natural resources is growing like a forest with diverse career opportunities. The College of Forest Resource provides programs for students interested in careers in natural resources. Offering nine options and hundreds of career opportunities in forestry, forest products, wildlife, fisheries, aquaculture and other natural resources, the College of Forest Resources is one of eleven colleges and schools at Mississippi State University. The College of Forest Resources has a national and international reputation as a university center for applied and basic science, education, and service.

For More Information:

Office of Academic Affairs
College of Forest Resources
Box 9680
Mississippi State, MS 39762

662.325.0855

webmaster@cfr.msstate.edu
www.cfr.msstate.edu

MISSISSIPPI STATE UNIVERSITY™

Discrimination based upon race, color, religion, sex, national origin, age, disability, or veteran's status is a violation of federal and state law and MSU policy and will not be tolerated. Discrimination based upon sexual orientation or group affiliation is a violation of MSU policy and will not be tolerated.

how is big your office?

COLLEGE OF FOREST RESOURCES
mississippi state university

CONSERVATION LAW ENFORCEMENT

designed for students interested in enforcement of natural resource laws and regulations (conservation officers, park rangers, etc.)

ENVIRONMENTAL CONSERVATION

designed for students interested in broad environmental issues and management of forests and other natural resources

FOREST MANAGEMENT

designed for students interested in managing forest land for both the public and private sectors

FOREST PRODUCTS

designed for students interested in forestry and materials science, engineering, material processing, process design and control, marketing and business

URBAN FORESTRY

designed for students interested in managing trees and other flora in cities, parks, university campuses, etc.

WILDLIFE & FISHERIES SCIENCE

designed for students interested in wildlife and fisheries science, management, and aquaculture with preparation to pursue advanced degree(s)

FORESTRY/WILDLIFE MANAGEMENT

designed for students interested in wildlife management within multiple-use management of forest lands

WILDLIFE VETERINARY

designed for students interested in obtaining an undergraduate degree in Wildlife and Fisheries Science with a strong background in Veterinary Medicine while satisfying pre-vet requirements

WILDLIFE PRE-VETERINARY

designed for students to pursue an undergraduate degree in Wildlife and Fisheries Science for three years and then, if accepted, matriculate into MSU's Veterinary Medicine program

